A Practical Collection
of Essential Idioms Arranged by Topic

NTC's Thematic Dictionary of American Idioms contains more than 5,500 of the most common and useful idioms arranged conveniently by theme, topic, or meaning. This work combines the best features of a thesaurus and a dictionary. Its features include:

- A definition of each idiom that includes at least two examples of usage
- An alphabetical index for locating each idiom
- An easy-to-read format with a minimum of abbreviations and symbols

NTC's Thematic Dictionary of American Idioms is an invaluable tool that allows writers, speakers, and students of English to locate the exact idiomatic expressions they need quickly and easily.

Idioms Index 355
Most of the world’s languages have phrases or sentences that cannot be understood literally. Even if you know all the words in a phrase and understand all the grammar of the phrase completely, the meaning may still be elusive. A phrase or sentence of this type is said to be idiomatic. Many proverbs, informal phrases, and common sayings are idiomatic, and offer special problems to readers, writers, and language learners. This dictionary is a collection of the idiomatic phrases and sentences that occur frequently in American English.

The idiomatic expressions in this dictionary are arranged according to theme. There is a list of themes on page vii. Writers and students seeking an idiomatic way of expressing something can easily find likely candidates by using the themes to locate a selection of expressions.

There is an index on page 355 that allows the user to find a particular idiom by showing the theme under which the idiom is listed.
The following is a list of the 900 themes used to classify the idiomatic expressions found in this dictionary. The themes are also used as guide words at the top of each page in the dictionary. Use this list to explore the various themes conveniently.

ABANDONMENT

desert a sinking ship and leave a sinking ship to leave a place, a person, or a situation when things become difficult or unpleasant. (Rats are said to be the first to leave a ship that is sinking.) □ I hate to be the one to desert a sinking ship, but I can't stand it around here anymore. □ There goes Tom. Wouldn't you know he'd leave a sinking ship rather than stay around and try to help?

leave someone for dead to abandon someone as being dead. (The abandoned person may actually be alive.) □ He looked so bad that they almost left him for dead. □ As the soldiers turned—leaving the enemy captain for dead—the captain fired at them.

leave someone high and dry to leave someone unsupported and unable to maneuver; to leave someone helpless. (Informal.) □ All my workers quit and left me high and dry. □ All the children ran away and left Billy high and dry to take the blame for the broken window.

skip out (on someone or something) to sneak away from someone; to leave someone in secret. (Slang.) □ I heard that Bill skipped out on his wife. □ I'm not surprised. I thought he should have skipped out long ago.

walk out on someone to abandon someone; to leave one's spouse. □ Mr. Franklin walked out on Mrs. Franklin last week. □ Bob walked out on Jane without saying good-bye.

wash one's hands of someone or something to end one's association with someone or something. □ I washed my hands of Tom. I wanted no more to do with him. □ That car was a real headache. I washed my hands of it long ago.

equal to someone or something able to handle or deal with someone or something. □ I'm afraid that I'm not equal to Mrs. Smith's problem right now. Please ask her to come back later. □ That's a very difficult task, but I'm sure Bill is equal to it.

hard put (to do something) and hard pressed (to do something) able to do something only with great difficulty. □ I'm hard put to come up with enough money to pay the rent. □ I get hard put like that about once a month.

have a way with someone or something to handle or deal well with someone or something. □ John has a way with hamburger. It's always delicious. □ Mother has a way with Father. She'll get him to paint the house.

have something on the ball to be smart and clever. (Slang.) □ Both John and Mary have a lot on the ball. They should go far. □ I think I'd do better in school if I had more on the ball. I learn slowly.

have the Midas touch to have the ability to be successful, especially the ability to make money easily. (From the name of a legendary king whose touch turned everything to gold.) □ Bob is a merchant banker and really has the Midas touch. □ The poverty-stricken boy turned out to have the Midas touch and was a millionaire by the time he was twenty-five.

have what it takes to have the courage or stamina (to do something). □ Bill has what it takes. He can swim for miles.
Tom won't succeed. He doesn't have what it takes.

to the best of one's ability as well as one is able. □ I did the work to the best of my ability. □ You should always work to the best of your ability.

up to something capable of something; fit enough for something. □ John's not up to doing a job of that kind. □ Mary's mother's been ill and is not up to traveling yet.

ABILITY - LACKING

beyond one's depth beyond one's understanding or capabilities. □ I'm beyond my depth in algebra class. □ Poor John was involved in a problem that was really beyond his depth.

ABSENCE

absent without leave and AWOL absent from a military unit without permission; absent from anything without permission. (AWOL is an abbreviation. This is a serious offense in the military.) □ The soldier was taken away by the military police because he was absent without leave. □ John was AWOL from school and got into a lot of trouble with his parents.

away from one's desk not available for a telephone conversation; not available to be seen. (Sometimes said by the person who answers a telephone in an office. It means that the person whom the caller wants is not immediately available due to personal or business reasons.) □ I'm sorry, but Ann is away from her desk just now. Can you come back later? □ Tom is away from his desk, but if you leave your number, he will call you right back.

conspicuous by one's absence to have one's absence (from an event) noticed. □ We missed you last night. You were conspicuous by your absence. □ How could the bride's father miss the wedding? He was certainly conspicuous by his absence.

cut class to skip going to class. (Informal.) □ If Mary keeps cutting classes, she'll fail the course. □ I can't cut that class. I've missed too many already.

go AWOL to become absent without leave. □ Private Smith went AWOL last Wednesday. Now he's in a military prison. □ Tom went AWOL once too often.

Long time no see. not to have seen someone for a long time. (Informal.) □ Hello, John. Long time no see. □ When John and Mary met on the street, they both said, "Long time no see."

out of town temporarily not in one's own town. □ I'll be out of town next week. I'm going to a conference. □ I take care of Mary's cat when she's out of town.

play hooky not to go to school or to some important meeting. (Slang.) □ Why aren't you in school? Are you playing hooky? □ I don't have time for the sales meeting today, so I think I'll just play hooky.

so much for someone or something that is the last of someone or something; there is no need to consider someone or something anymore. □ It just started raining. So much for our picnic this afternoon. □ So much for John. He just called in sick and can't come to work today.

ABUNDANCE

See also AMOUNT.

alive with someone or something covered with, filled with, or active with people or things. □ Look! Ants everywhere. The floor is alive with ants! □ When we got to the ballroom, the place was alive with dancing. □ The campground was alive with campers from all over the country.

and something to spare and with something to spare with extra left over; with more than is needed. (Something can be used literally.) □ I had as much flour as I needed with something to spare. □ Fred said he should have enough cash to last the week—with money to spare.

and then some and even more; more than has been mentioned. (Folksy.) □ John is going to have to run like a deer and then some to win this race. □ The cook put the amount of salt called for into the soup and then some.

any number of someone or something a large number; a sufficiently large Any number of people can vouch for my honesty. I can give you any number of reasons why I should join the army. I ate there any number of times and never became ill.

dime a dozen abundant; cheap and common. People who can write good books are not a dime a dozen. Romantic movies are a dime a dozen.

drug on the market on the market in great abundance; a glut on the market. Right now, small computers are a drug on the market. Ten years ago, small transistor radios were a drug on the market.

get the works to receive a lot of something. (Slang. The works can be a lot of food, good treatment, bad treatment, etc.) BILL: Shall we order a snack or a big meal? JANE: I'm hungry. Let's get the works. But, Your Honor. I shouldn't get the works. I only drove too fast!

give someone the works to give someone the full amount or the full treatment. (Slang.) The judge gave her the works for driving too fast. I want everything. Give me the works.

go overboard to do too much; to be extravagant. Look, Sally, let's have a nice party, but don't go overboard. It doesn't need to be fancy. Okay, you can buy a big comfortable car, but don't go overboard.

go too far to do more than is acceptable. I didn't mind at first, but now you've gone too far. If you go too far, I'll slap you.

have something to spare to have more than enough of something. Ask John for some firewood. He has firewood to spare. Do you have any candy to spare?

in short supply scarce. Fresh vegetables are in short supply in the winter. Yellow cars are in short supply because everyone likes them and buys them. At this time of the year, fresh vegetables go into short supply.

lousy with something with something in abundance. (Slang.) This place is lousy with cops. Our picnic table was lousy with ants.

more someone or something than one can shake a stick at a lot; too many to count. (Folksy.) There were more snakes than you could shake a stick at. There are lots of flowers in the field—more than one can shake a stick at.

no end of something lots of something. (Informal.) It was a wonderful banquet. They had no end of good food. Tom is a real problem. He's no end of trouble.

rolling in something having large amounts of something, usually money. (Informal.) That family is rolling in money. Jack doesn't need to earn money. He's rolling in it.

to one's heart's content as much as one wants. John wanted a week's vacation so he could go to the lake and fish to his heart's content. I just sat there, eating chocolate to my heart's content.

pick on someone your own size to abuse someone who is big enough to fight back. Go pick on somebody your own size! Max should learn to pick on someone his own size.

take liberties with someone or something and make free with someone or something to use or abuse someone or something. You are overly familiar with me, Mr. Jones. One might think you were taking liberties with me. I don't like it when you make free with my lawn mower. You should at least ask when you want to borrow it.

walk all over someone to treat someone badly. She's so mean to her children. She walks all over them. The manager had walked all over Ann for months. Finally she quit.

eat one's words to have to take back one's statements; to confess that one's predictions were wrong. You shouldn't say that to me. I'll make you eat your words. John was wrong about the election and had to eat his words.
face the music to receive punishment; to accept the unpleasant results of one's actions. Mary broke a dining-room window and had to face the music when her father got home. After failing a math test, Tom had to go home and face the music.

feel at home to feel as if one belongs; to feel as if one were in one's home; to feel accepted. I liked my dormitory room. I really felt at home there. We will do whatever we can to make you feel at home.

go over big with someone to be very much appreciated by someone. Your jokes did not exactly go over big with my parents. We hope that the musical will go over big with the audience.

hold with something to accept or agree with something. My father doesn't hold with fancy clothes. I don't hold with too many X rays.

like it or lump it either accept it or drop dead. I don't care whether you care for my attitude or not. You can just like it or lump it. This is all the food you get. Like it or lump it!

resign oneself to something to accept something reluctantly. I finally resigned myself to going to Mexico even though I didn't want to. Mary resigned herself to her fate.

settle for something to agree to accept something (even though something else would be better). We wanted a red one, but settled for a blue one. Ask your grocer for Wilson's canned corn—the best corn in cans. Don't settle for less.

take one's medicine to accept the punishment or the bad fortune that one deserves. I know I did wrong, and I know I have to take my medicine. Billy knew he was going to get spanked, and he didn't want to take his medicine.

take something at face value to accept something exactly the way it appears to be. I don't know whether I can take her story at face value, but I will assume that she is not lying. The committee took the report at face value and approved the suggested changes.

take something in stride to accept something as natural or expected. The argument surprised him, but he took it in stride. It was a very rude remark, but Mary took it in stride.

take something lying down to endure something unpleasant without fighting back. He insulted me publicly. You don't expect me to take that lying down, do you? I'm not the kind of person who'll take something like that lying down.

take the bitter with the sweet to accept the bad things along with the good things. We all have disappointments. You have to learn to take the bitter with the sweet. There are good days and bad days, but every day you take the bitter with the sweet. That's life.

turn thumbs up (on someone or something) to accept someone or something; to approve someone or something. The board of directors turned thumbs up on my proposal and voted to fund the project. The committee turned thumbs up on Carl as the new manager. When the boss turned thumbs up, I knew everything was okay.

have a blowout [for one's car tire] to burst. I had a blowout on the way here. I nearly lost control of the car. If you have a blowout in one tire, you should check the other tires.

hit-and-run an accident where the driver of a car strikes a person or another vehicle and speeds away without admitting to the deed or stopping to help. Fred was injured in a hit-and-run accident. The state passed a law making any kind of hit-and-run accident a felony.

rob the cradle to marry or date someone who is much younger than you are. (Informal.) I hear that Bill is dating Ann. Isn’t that sort of robbing the cradle? She’s much younger than he is. Uncle Bill—who is nearly eighty—married a thirty-year-old woman. That is really robbing the cradle.

wet behind the ears and not dry behind the ears young and inexperienced. John’s too young to take on a job like this! He’s still wet behind the ears! He may be wet behind the ears, but he’s well trained and totally competent. Tom is going into business by himself? Why, he’s hardly dry behind the ears. That kid isn’t dry behind the ears. He’ll go broke in a month.

all right with someone agreeable to someone. If you want to ruin your life and marry Tom, it’s all right with me. I’ll see if it’s all right with my father.

see eye to eye (with someone) (about something) and see eye to eye (with someone) (on something) to view something in the same way (as someone else). John and Ann see eye to eye about the new law. Neither of them likes it. John sees eye to eye with Ann about it. That’s interesting because they rarely see eye to eye.

see no objection (to something) and not see any objection (to something) not to think of any objection to something. I see no objection to your idea. Do you see any objection? I do not see any objection to anything you have done.

take kindly to something to be agreeable to something. My father doesn’t take kindly to anyone using his tools. I hope they’ll take kindly to our request.

all right well, good, or okay, but not excellent. (Informal. This phrase has all the uses that okay has.) I was a little sick, but now I’m all right. His work is all right, but nothing to brag about. All right, it’s time to go.

back someone or something up to support someone or something; to concur with someone. Please back me up in this argument. I would like you to back up John in this discussion.

come (a)round finally to agree or consent (to something). I thought he’d never agree, but in the end he came around. She came round only after we argued for an hour.

come to terms (with someone or something) to come to an agreement with someone or something. I finally came to terms with my lawyer about his fee. Bob, you have to come to terms with your father.

fine and dandy all right; okay; really fine. Everything is fine and dandy at work. No special problems alertness at the present time. □ I feel fine and dandy. The new medicine seems to be working.

Go along with someone to agree with someone. □ I go along with Sally. I'm sure she's right. □ I can't go along with John. He doesn't know what he's talking about.

Go along with something to agree to something. □ All right. I'll go along with your plan. □ I'm sure that John won't want to go along with it.

Same here Me too!; I agree! (Informal.) □ Bob: I'll have chocolate ice cream! Bill: Same here. □ Mary: I'll vote for the best candidate. Tom: Same here!

Say the word to give a signal to begin; to say "yes" or "okay." □ I'm ready to start any time you say the word. □ We'll all shout "Happy Birthday!" when I say the word.

Shake (hands) on something to clasp and shake the hand of someone as a sign of agreement about something. □ The two people didn't sign a contract; they just shook hands on the terms of the agreement. □ I think it would be better to sign an agreement than shake on it.

Strike a bargain to reach an agreement on a price (for something). □ They argued for a while and finally struck a bargain. □ They were unable to strike a bargain, so they left.

That makes two of us. The same is true for me. □ So you're going to the football game? That makes two of us. □ Bill: I just passed my biology test. Bob: That makes two of us!

You can say that again! and You said it! That is true.; You are correct. (Informal. The word that is emphasized.) □ Mary: It sure is hot today. Jane: You can say that again! □ Bill: This cake is yummy! Bob: You said it!

ALERTNESS

Be all eyes (and ears) to be alert for something to happen; to wait eagerly for something to happen or for someone or something to appear. □ There they were, sitting at the table, all eyes. The birthday cake was soon to be served. □ Nothing can escape my notice. I'm all eyes and ears.

Buck up cheer up. □ Buck up, old friend! Things can't be all that bad. □ I know I have to buck up. Life must go on.

Come to life to become alive or lively. (Usually used in a figurative sense.) □ The party came to life about midnight. □ As the anesthetic wore off, the patient came to life.

Come to one's senses to wake up; to become conscious; to start thinking clearly. □ John, come to your senses. You're being quite stupid. □ In the morning I don't come to my senses until I have had two cups of coffee.

Have one's ear to the ground and keep one's ear to the ground to listen carefully, hoping to get advance warning of something. □ John had his ear to the ground, hoping to find out about new ideas in computers. □ His boss told him to keep his ear to the ground so that he'd be the first to know of a new idea.

Keep one's eye on the ball to remain alert to the events occurring around one. (Informal.) □ If you want to get along in this office, you're going to have to keep your eye on the ball. □ Bill would do better in his classes if he would just keep his eye on the ball.

Keep one's eyes open (for someone or something) and keep one's eyes peeled (for someone or something) to remain alert and watchful for someone or something. (The entries with peeled are informal. Peel refers to moving the eyelids back.) □ I'm keeping my eyes open for a sale on winter coats. □ Please keep your eyes peeled for Mary. She's due to arrive here any time. □ Okay. I'll keep my eyes open.

Keep on one's toes to stay alert and watchful. □ If you want to be a success at this job, you will have to keep on your toes. □ Please keep on your toes and report anything strange that you see.

One jump ahead (of someone or something) and one move ahead (of someone or something) one (figurative) step in advance of someone or something. • Try to stay one jump ahead of the customer. • If you’re one move ahead, you’re well prepared to deal with problems. Then, nothing is a surprise.

burn the candle at both ends to work very hard and stay up very late at night. • No wonder Mary is ill. She has been burning the candle at both ends for a long time. • You can’t keep on burning the candle at both ends.

burn the midnight oil to stay up working, especially studying, late at night. (Refers to working by the light of an oil lamp.) • I have to go home and burn the midnight oil tonight. • If you burn the midnight oil night after night, you’ll probably become ill.

bust a gut (to do something) to work very hard; to strain oneself to do something. (Slang. The word gut is considered impolite in some circumstances. Bust is an informal form of burst.) • I don’t intend to bust a gut to get there on time. • I busted a gut to get there the last time, and I was the first one there.

by the sweat of one’s brow by one’s efforts; by one’s hard work. • Tom raised these vegetables by the sweat of his brow. • Sally polished the car by the sweat of her brow.

dig in to apply oneself to a task; to tackle (something) vigorously. • Sally looked at the big job ahead of her. Then she rolled up her sleeves and dug in. • “Tom,” hollered Mrs. Smith, “you get to that pile of homework and dig in this very minute.”

do one’s (level) best to do (something) as well as one can. • Just do your level best. That’s all we can ask of you. • Tom isn’t doing his best. We may have to replace him.

give something one’s best shot to give a task one’s best effort. • I gave the project my best shot. • Sure, try it. Give it your best shot!

go out of one’s way (to do something) to make an effort to do something; to accept the bother of doing something. • We went out of our way to please the visitor. • We appreciate anything you can do, but don’t go out of your way.

in earnest sincerely. • This time I’ll try in earnest. • She spoke in earnest, and many people believed her.

knock oneself out (to do something) to go to a great deal of trouble to do something. (Informal. As if one had worked oneself into unconsciousness.) • I knocked myself out to prepare this meal for you, and you won’t even taste it! • I don’t know why I knock myself out to do these things for you. You are not at all appreciative.

last-ditch effort a final effort; the last possible attempt. • I made one last-ditch effort to get her to stay. • It was a last-ditch effort. I didn’t expect it to work.
line of least resistance the course of action that will cause least trouble or effort. Jane won't stand up for her rights. She always takes the line of least resistance. Joan never states her point of view. She takes the line of least resistance and agrees with everyone else.

main strength and awkwardness great force; brute force. (Folksy. Fixed order.) They finally got the piano moved into the living room by main strength and awkwardness. Lifting the table must be done carefully. This is not a job requiring main strength and awkwardness.

make an all-out effort to make a thorough and energetic effort. Sally made an all-out effort to get to class on time. In my job, I have to make an all-out effort every day.

make the best of something to try to make a bad situation work out well. It's not good, but we'll have to make the best of it. Ann is clever enough to make the best of a bad situation.

make the most of something to make something appear as good as possible; to exploit something; to get as much out of something as is possible. Mary knows how to make the most of her talents. They designed the advertisements to make the most of the product's features.

move heaven and earth to do something to make a major effort to do something. (Fixed order.) I'll move heaven and earth to be with you, Mary," said Bill. I had to move heaven and earth to get there on time. Your father and I had to move heaven and earth to pay for your braces and your college bills, and what thanks do we get?

pull out all the stops to use all one's energy and effort in order to achieve something. (From the stops of a pipe organ. The more that are pulled out, the louder it gets.) You'll have to pull out all the stops if you're going to pass the course. The doctors will pull out all the stops to save the child's life.

put one's back (in) to something 1. to apply a lot of mental or creative effort to doing something. If we put our backs to it, we can bake twelve dozen cookies today. The artist put his back into finishing the picture on time. 2. to apply great physical effort to lift or move something. All right, you guys. Put your backs into moving this piano. You can lift it if you put your back to it.

put one's hand to the plow to begin to do a big and important task; to undertake a major effort. If John would only put his hand to the plow, he could do an excellent job. You'll never accomplish anything if you don't put your hand to the plow.

put one's nose to the grindstone to keep busy doing one's work. (Also with have and get, as in the examples.) The boss told me to put my nose to the grindstone. I've had my nose to the grindstone ever since I started working here. If the other people in this office would get their noses to the grindstone, more work would get done.

put one's shoulder to the wheel to get busy. You won't accomplish anything unless you put your shoulder to the wheel. I put my shoulder to the wheel and finished the job quickly.

under one's own steam by one's own power or effort. (Informal.) I missed my ride to class, so I had to get there under my own steam. John will need some help with this project. He can't do it under his own steam.

use every trick in the book to use every method possible. (Informal.) I used every trick in the book, but I still couldn't manage to get a ticket to the game Saturday. Bob tried to use every trick in the book, but he still failed.

use some elbow grease use some effort. (Slang. As if lubricating one's elbow would make one more efficient. Note the variations in the examples.) Come on, Bill. You can do it. Just use some elbow grease. I tried elbow grease, but it doesn't help get the job done.

with the best will in the world however much one wishes to do something or however hard one tries to do something. With the best will in the world, Jack won’t be able to help Mary get the job. With the best will in the world, they won’t finish the job in time.

work like a horse to work very hard. I’ve been working like a horse all day, and I’m tired. I’m too old to work like a horse. I’d prefer to relax more.

work one’s fingers to the bone to work very hard. I’ve been working like a horse all day, and I’m tired. I’m too old to work like a horse. I’d prefer to relax more.

preach to the converted to praise or recommend something to someone who is already in favor of it. Mary was preaching to the converted when she tried to persuade Jean to become a feminist. She’s been one for years. Bob found himself preaching to the converted when he was telling Jane the advantages of living in the country. She hates city life.

drum someone out of something to expel or send someone away from something, especially in a formal or public fashion. (From the military use of drums on such occasions.) The officer was drummed out of the regiment for misconduct. I heard that he was drummed out of the country club for cheating on his golf score.

read someone out of something to expel someone from an organization, such as a political party. Because of her statement, they read her out of the party. The officers tried to read me out of the society, but they didn’t succeed.

throw someone out (of something) to force a person to leave a place or an organization. John behaved so badly that they threw him out of the party. I was very loud, but they didn’t throw me out. They threw Toni out of the club because she was so unpleasant.

turn someone out to send someone out of somewhere. I didn’t pay my rent, so the manager turned me out. I’m glad it’s not winter. I’d hate to turn out someone in the snow.

ELECTRICITY

plug something in to place a plug into a receptacle. This television set won’t work unless you plug it in! Please plug in this lamp.

out of the running no longer being considered; eliminated from a contest. After the first part of the diving meet, three members of our team were out of the running. After the scandal was made public, I was no longer in the running. I pulled out of the election.

plug something up to stop or fill up a hole, crack, or gap. Take out the nail and plug the hole up with something. You have to plug up the cracks to keep out the cold.

work something off to get rid of something, such as fat, by doing physical exercise. Bob put on weight on his vacation and is trying to work it off by swimming regularly. Jane tried to work off her depression by playing a game of tennis.

have egg on one’s face to be embarrassed because of an error that is obvious to everyone. Bob has egg on his face because he wore jeans to the party and everyone else wore formal clothing. John was completely wrong about the weather for the picnic. It snowed! Now he has egg on his face.

have foot-in-mouth disease to embarrass oneself through a silly verbal blunder. (Informal. This is a parody on foot-and-mouth disease or hoof-and-mouth disease, which affects cattle and deer. Fixed order.) I’m sorry I keep saying stupid things. I guess I have foot-in-mouth disease. Yes, you really have foot-in-mouth disease tonight.

red in the face embarrassed. After we found Ann hiding in the closet, she became red in the face. The speaker kept making errors and became red in the face.

above suspicion to be honest enough that no one would suspect you; to be in a position where you could not be suspected. □ The general is a fine old man, completely above suspicion. □ Mary was at work at the time of the accident, so she's above suspicion.

as good as one's word obedient to one's promise; dependable in keeping one's promises. □ He was as good as his word. He lent me the books as promised. □ She said she would baby-sit and she was as good as her word.

come by something honestly to inherit something—a character trait—from one's parents. □ I know I'm mean. I came by it honestly, though. □ She came by her kindness honestly.

come clean (with someone) to be completely honest with someone; to confess (everything) to someone. □ The lawyer said, "I can help you only if you come clean with me." □ All right, I'll come clean. Here is the whole story.

Come off it! Tell the truth!; Be serious! (Slang.) □ Come off it, Bill! I don't believe you! Come on, Jane. Come off it! That can’t be true.

in good faith with good and honest intent; with sincerity. We are convinced you were acting in good faith, even though you made a serious error. I think you didn’t sign the contract in good faith. You never intended to carry out our agreement.

level with someone to be honest with someone. (Slang.) Come on, Bill. Level with me. Did you do it? I’m leveling with you. I wasn’t even in town. I couldn’t have done it.

on the level honest; dependably open and fair. How can I be sure you’re on the level? You can trust Sally. She’s on the level.

play fair to do something by the rules; to play something in a fair and just manner. John won’t play with Bill anymore because Bill doesn’t play fair. You moved the golf ball with your foot! That’s not playing fair!

put one’s cards on the table (informal) to reveal everything; to be open and honest with someone. (Informal.) Come on, John, lay your cards on the table. Tell me what you really think. Why don’t we both put our cards on the table?

square deal a fair and honest transaction; fair treatment. (Informal.) All the workers want is a square deal, but their boss underpays them. You always get a square deal with that travel company.

(strictly) on the up-and-up honest; fair and straight. (Slang.) Do you think that the mayor is on the up-and-up? Yes, the mayor is strictly on the up-and-up.

clutch at straws to continue to seek solutions, ideas, or hopes that are insubstantial. When you talk of inheriting money, you are just clutching at straws. That is not a real solution to the problem. You are just clutching at straws.

dream come true a wish or a dream that has become real. Going to Hawaii is like having a dream come true. Having you for a friend is a dream come true.

hope against (all) hope to have hope even when the situation appears to be hopeless. We hope against all hope that she’ll see the right thing to do and do it. There is little point in hoping against hope, except that it makes you feel better.

in hopes of something expecting something. (Also with high, as in the example.) I was in hopes of getting there early. We are in high hopes that John and Mary will have a girl.

keep one’s fingers crossed (for someone or something) and cross one’s fingers to wish for luck for someone or something, often by crossing one’s fingers; to hope for a good outcome for someone or something. I hope you win the race Saturday. I’m keeping my fingers crossed for you. I’m trying out for a play. Keep your fingers crossed!

wishful thinking believing that something is true or that something will happen just because one wishes that it were true or would happen. Hoping for a car as a birthday present is just wishful thinking. Your parents can’t afford it. Mary thinks that she is going to get a big rise, but that’s wishful thinking. Her boss is so mean.

it’s no use (doing something) it is hopeless to do something; it is pointless to do something. It’s no use trying to call on the telephone. The line is always busy. They tried and tried, but it was no use.

like looking for a needle in a haystack engaged in a hopeless search. Trying to find a white dog in the snow is like looking for a needle in a haystack. I tried to find my lost contact lens on the beach, but it was like looking for a needle in a haystack.

lost cause a futile attempt; a hopeless matter. Our campaign to have the new party on the ballot was a lost cause. Todd gave it up as a lost cause.
HOUSEKEEPING

make the bed and make someone's bed to restore a bed to an unslept-in condition. □ I make my bed every morning. □ The maid goes to all the rooms to make the beds.

at the same time nevertheless; however.
□ Bill was able to make the car payment. At the same time, he was very angry about the bill. □ We agree to your demands. At the same time, we object strongly to your methods.

by any means by any way possible.
□ I need to get there soon by any means. □ I must win this contest by any means, fair or unfair. □ It cannot be done by any means.

HUMILIATION

beat someone down (to size) and knock someone down (to size) to make a person more humble, possibly by beating. □ If you keep acting so arrogant, someone is going to beat you down to size. □ It's time someone knocked you down to size. □ I'll try to be more thoughtful. I don't want anyone to beat me down.

pull someone down
to degrade someone; to humiliate someone.
□ I'm afraid that your friends are pulling you down. Your manners used to be much better. □ My bad habits are pulling me down. □ There is no need to pull down everyone.

put someone or something down to be little or degrade someone or something.
(Slang.) □ It's an old car, but that's no reason to put it down. □ Please stop putting me down all the time. It hurts my feelings. □ You put down everything you don't understand!

HUNGER

very hungry. (Informal.) □ I'm as hungry as a bear. I could eat anything! □ Whenever I jog, I get hungry as a bear.

make someone's mouth water to make someone hungry (for something). (Informal.) □ That beautiful salad makes my mouth water. □ Talking about food makes my mouth water.

HUNTING

legally able to be caught or hunted. □ Catfish are in season all year round. □ When are salmon in season?

open season on something unrestricted hunting of a particular game animal. □ It's always open season on rabbits around here. □ Is it ever open season on deer?

out of season

not now legally able to be hunted or caught. □ Are salmon out of season? □ I caught a trout out of season and had to pay a fine.

to hurry to meet a deadline or to do something quickly. □ The ambulance sped through the city to reach the accident, fighting against time. □ All the students fought against time to complete the test.
get a hurry on and get a move on to start to hurry. (Informal.) □ We are going to leave in five minutes, Jane. Get a hurry on! □ Mary! Get a move on! We can't wait all day.

get the lead out and shake the lead out to hurry; to move faster. (Slang. This means to get the lead weights out of your pants so you can move faster.) □ Come on, you guys. Get the lead out! □ If you're going to sell cars, you're going to have to shake the lead out.

in a mad rush in a hurry. □ I ran around all day today in a mad rush, looking for a present for Bill. □ Why are you always in a mad rush?

in great haste very fast; in a big hurry. □ John always did his homework in great haste. □ Why not take time and do it right? Don't do everything in great haste.

race against time 1. a rush; rushing to beat a deadline. □ We were in a race against time to beat the deadline. □ It was a race against time, but we made it. 2. to hurry to beat a deadline. □ We had to race against time to finish before the deadline. □ You don't need to race against time. Take all the time you want.

get a bee in one’s bonnet to get an idea or a thought that remains in one’s mind; to get an obsession. □ I have a bee in my bonnet that you’d be a good manager. □ I got a bee in my bonnet about swimming. I couldn’t stop wanting to go swimming.

get a bright idea for a clever thought or idea to occur (to someone). □ Now and then I get a bright idea. □ John hardly ever gets a bright idea. □ Listen here! I have a bright idea!

get a rough idea (about something) and get a rough idea (of something) to receive a general idea; to receive an estimate. (Got can be replaced with have.) □ I need to get a rough idea of how many people will be there. □ I don’t need to know exactly. Just get a rough idea. □ Judy has got a rough idea about who’ll be there. □ I have a rough idea. That’s good enough.

give someone a bright idea to give someone a clever thought or idea. □ That gives me a bright idea! □ Thank you for giving me a bright idea.

give someone a rough idea (about something) and give someone a rough idea (of something) to give someone a general idea or an estimate about something. □ I don’t need to know exactly. Just give me a rough idea about how big it should be. □ Let me give you a rough idea about my plan.

know which is which and tell which is which to be able to distinguish one person or thing from another person or thing. □ I have an old one and a new one, but I don’t know which is which. □ I know that Bill and Bob are twins, but I can’t tell which is which.

mistake someone for someone else and mix someone up with someone else to confuse someone with someone else; to think that one person is another person. □ I’m sorry. I mistook you for John. □ Tom is always mistaking Bill for me. We don’t look a thing alike, though. □ Try not to mix Bill up with Bob.

mix someone or something up to confuse two things or two people with each other. □ Please don’t mix these ideas up. They are quite distinct. □ I always mix up Bill and Bob. □ Why do you mix them up?

neither fish nor fowl not any recognizable thing. □ The car that they drove up in was neither fish nor fowl. It must have been made out of spare parts. □ This proposal is neither fish nor fowl. I can’t tell what you’re proposing.

not know someone from Adam not to know someone at all. □ I wouldn’t recognize John if I saw him. I don’t know him from Adam. □ What does she look like? I don’t know her from Adam.

place someone to recall someone’s name; to recall the details about a person that would help you identify the person. □ I am sorry, I can’t seem to place you. Could you tell me your name again? □ I can’t place her. Did I meet her once before?

point someone or something out to select or indicate someone or something Everyone pointed the error out. She pointed the thief out to the police officer. She pointed out the boy who took her purse.

put one's finger on something to identify something as very important. (Informal.) Ann put her finger on the cause of the problem. Yes, she really put her finger on it.

put the finger on someone AND lay the finger on someone to accuse someone; to identify someone as the one who did something. (Slang.) Tom put the finger on John, and John is really mad. He'd better not lay the finger on me. I didn't do it.

speak of the devil said when someone whose name has just been mentioned appears or is heard from. Well, speak of the devil! Hello, Tom. We were just talking about you. I had just mentioned Sally when—speak of the devil—she walked in the door.

take someone for someone or something to mistake someone for someone or something. I took Bill for his brother, Bob. They look so much alike! I took Mr. Brown for the gardener, and he was a little bit insulted.

tell people apart to distinguish one person or a group of people from another person or group of people. Tom and John are brothers, and you can hardly tell them apart. Our team is wearing red, and the other team is wearing orange. I can't tell them apart.

tell things apart to distinguish one thing or a group of things from another thing or group of things. This one is gold, and the others are brass. Can you tell them apart? Without their labels, I can't tell them apart.

if as long as AND so long as if; only if. You may have dessert so long as you eat all your vegetables. You can go out this evening as long as you promise to be home by midnight.

just in case if (something happens). All right. I'll take it just in case. I'll take along some aspirin, just in case.

burst into flames to catch fire suddenly; to ignite all at once. Suddenly, the car burst into flames. It was so hot in the forest fire that a few trees literally burst into flames.

catch (on) fire to ignite and burn with flames. Keep your coat away from the flames, or it will catch fire. Lightning struck the prairie, and the grass caught on fire.

IGNORE

close one's eyes to something to ignore something; to pretend that something is not really happening. You can't close your eyes to hunger in the world. I just closed my eyes to the problem and pretended that it wasn't there.

cut someone off without a penny to end someone's allowance; to fail to leave someone money in one's will. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin cut their son off without a penny after he quit school. They cut off both of their sons without a penny. We learned, when Uncle Sam's will was read, that he cut off his own flesh and blood without a penny.

fiddle while Rome burns to do nothing or something trivial while something disastrous happens. (From a legend that the emperor Nero played the lyre while Rome was burning.) The lobbyists don't seem to be doing anything to stop this tax bill. They're fiddling while Rome burns. The doctor should have sent for an ambulance right away instead of examining the woman. In fact, he was just fiddling while Rome burned.

give someone the air to ignore someone; to dismiss someone. Tom always gives me the air. Is there something wrong with me? Why is she giving him the air? What did he do?

in one ear and out (of) the other [for something to be] ignored; [for something to be] unheard or unheeded. (In can be replaced with into.) □ Bill just doesn’t pay attention. Everything is in one ear and out the other. □ I told Billy to be home by dinnertime, but I am sure it’s just in one ear and out the other.

let alone someone or something not to mention or think of someone or something; not even to take someone or something into account. □ Do I have a dollar? I don’t even have a dime, let alone a dollar. □ I didn’t invite John, let alone the rest of his family.

look the other way to ignore (something) on purpose. □ John could have prevented the problem, but he looked the other way. □ By looking the other way, he actually made the problem worse.

make nothing of something to ignore something as if it had not happened; to think no more about something. (Often with it.) □ My father caught me throwing the snowball, but he made nothing of it. □ I made nothing of the remark, even though it seemed quite rude. □ I saw him leave, but I made nothing of it.

not give anyone the time of day to ignore someone (usually out of dislike). (Informal.) □ Mary won’t speak to Sally. She won’t give her the time of day. □ I couldn’t get an appointment with Mr. Smith. He wouldn’t even give me the time of day.

take no stock in something and not take stock in something to pay no attention to someone; not to believe or accept something. □ I take no stock in anything John has to say. □ He doesn’t take stock in your opinions either.

to say the least at the very least; without dwelling on the subject. □ We were not at all pleased with her work—to say the least. □ When they had an accident, they were upset to say the least.

toss something off and shake something off to ignore or resist the bad effects of something. □ John insulted Bob, but Bob just tossed it off. □ If I couldn’t shake off insults, I’d be miserable.

tune someone or something out to ignore someone or something; to be unaware of someone or something. □ Sally annoys me sometimes, so I just tune her out. □ Your radio doesn’t bother me. I just tune out the noise.

turn a blind eye to someone or something to ignore someone or something. □ The usher turned a blind eye to the little boy who sneaked into the theater. □ How can you turn a blind eye to all those starving children?

turn a deaf ear (to someone or something) to ignore what someone says; to ignore a cry for help. □ How can you just turn a deaf ear to their cries for food and shelter? □ The government has turned a deaf ear.

turn one’s back (on someone or something) to abandon or ignore someone or something. □ Don’t turn your back on your old friends. □ Bob has a tendency to turn his back on serious problems. □ This matter needs your attention. Please don’t just turn your back.

turn the other cheek to ignore abuse or an insult. □ When Bob got mad at Mary and yelled at her, she just turned the other cheek. □ Usually I turn the other cheek when someone is rude to me.

wink at something to ignore something. (Informal.) □ Billy caused me a little trouble, but I just winked at it. □ This is a serious matter, and you can’t expect me just to wink at it.

IGNORE - DISREGARD
Perish the thought. Do not even consider thinking of something. (Formal.) □ If you should become ill—perish the thought—I’d take care of you. □ I’m afraid that we need a new car. Perish the thought.

IMAGINATION
build castles in the air and build castles in Spain to daydream; to make plans that can never come true. □ Ann spends most of her time building castles in Spain. □ I really like to sit on the porch in the evening, just building castles in the air.

flight of fancy an idea or suggestion that is out of touch with reality or possibility. What is the point in indulging in flights of fancy about foreign vacations when you cannot even afford the rent? We are tired of her flights of fancy about marrying a millionaire.

in one's mind's eye in one's mind. (Refers to visualizing something in one's mind.) In my mind's eye, I can see trouble ahead. In her mind's eye, she could see a beautiful building beside the river. She decided to design such a building.

seeing things imagining that one sees someone or something that is not there. Jean says that she saw a ghost, but she was just seeing things. I thought I was seeing things when Bill walked into the room. Someone had told me he was dead.

woolgathering daydreaming. (From the practice of wandering along collecting tufts of sheep's wool from hedges.) John never listens to the teacher. He's always woolgathering. I wish my new secretary would get on with the work and stop woolgathering.

hold someone down to try to keep someone from succeeding. I still think you're trying to hold him down. I'm not trying to hold down my brother.

run into a stone wall to come to a barrier against further progress. (Informal.) We've run into a stone wall in our investigation. Algebra was hard for Tom, but he really ran into a stone wall with geometry.

stand in someone's way to be a barrier to someone's desires or intentions. I know you want a divorce so you can marry Ann. Well, I won't stand in your way. You can have the divorce. I know you want to leave home, and I don't want to stand in your way. You're free to go.

stumbling block something that prevents or obstructs progress. We'd like to buy that house, but the high price is the stumbling block. Jim's age is a stumbling block to getting another job. He's over 60.

IMPERTINENCE
See rudeness.

IMPORRTANCE

crux of the matter the central issue of the matter. (Crux is an old word meaning "cross.") All right, this is the crux of the matter. It's about time that we looked at the crux of the matter.

first and foremost first and most important. (Fixed order.) First and foremost, I think you should work harder on your biology. Have this in mind first and foremost: Keep smiling!

first things first the most important things must be taken care of first. It's more important to get a job than to buy new clothes. First things first! Do your homework now. Go out and play later. First things first.

instrumental in doing something playing an important part in doing something. John was instrumental in getting the contract to build the new building. Our senator was instrumental in defeating the bill.

last but not least last in sequence, but not last in importance. (Often said when introducing people. Fixed order.) The speaker said, "And now, last but not least, I'd like to present Bill Smith, who will give us some final words." And last but not least, here is the loser of the race.

loom large (on the horizon) to be of great importance, especially when referring to a possible problem, danger, or threat. The exams were looming large on the horizon. Eviction was looming large when the students could not pay their rent.

milestone in someone's life a very important event or point in one's life. (From the stone at the side of a road showing the distance to or from a place.) Joan's wedding was a milestone in her mother's life. The birth of a child is a milestone in every parent's life.

nothing to sneeze at nothing small or unimportant. (Informal.) It's not a lot of money, but it's nothing to sneeze at.
Our house isn't a mansion, but it's nothing to sneeze at.

IMPORTANCE - LACKING
least of all least; of smallest importance. (Informal.) □ There were many things wrong with the new house. Least of all, the water faucets leaked. □ What a bad day. Many things went wrong, but least of all, I tore my shirt.

no great shakes nothing important or worth noticing. (Slang.) □ It's okay, but it's no great shakes. □ I like John, but he's no great shakes when it comes to sports.

no way not any means (to do something). (Slang.) □ You think I'm going to sit around here while you're having fun at the picnic? No way! □ Bob: Will you please take this to the post office for me? Bill: No way.

no-win situation a situation where there is no correct or satisfactory solution. □ The general was too weak to fight and too proud to surrender. It was a no-win situation. □ The huge dog my father gave us as a gift eats too much. If we get rid of the dog, my father will be insulted. If we keep it, we will go broke buying food for it. This is a classic no-win situation.

out of reach unattainable. □ I wanted to be president, but I'm afraid that such a goal is out of reach. □ I shall choose a goal that is not out of reach.

out of the question not possible; not permitted. □ I'm sorry, but it's out of the question. □ You can't go to Florida this spring. We can't afford it. It's out of the question.

IMPROVEMENT
beef something up to make something stronger; to supplement something. (Informal or slang.) □ The government decided to beef the army up by buying hundreds of new tanks. □ Okay, let's beef up the opening song. Please, everyone, sing louder!

for the better better; an improvement. □ A change of government would be for the better. □ A new winter coat would certainly be for the better.

get better to improve. □ I had a bad cold, but it's getting better. □ Business was bad last week, but it's getting better. □ I'm sorry you're ill. I hope you get better.

gone one's second wind to become more active or productive (after starting off slowly). □ I usually get my second wind early in the afternoon. □ Mary is a better worker now that she has her second wind.

go someone one better and do someone one better to do something superior to what someone else has done; to top someone. □ That was a great joke, but I can go you one better. □ Your last song was beautifully sung, but Mary can do you one better.

make or break someone either to improve or ruin someone. (Fixed order.) □ The army will either make or break him. □ It's a tough assignment, and it will either make or break her.

set something right and put something right to correct something; to alter a situation to make it more fair. □ This is a very unfortunate situation. I'll ask the people responsible to set this matter right. □ I'm sorry that we overcharged you. We'll try to put it right.

shape up to improve one's behavior or performance; to improve one's physical shape. □ Look at this, John! What a poor job you've done! It's time you shaped up! □ If I'm going to run in the marathon, I'm going to have to shape up.

soup something up to make something (especially a car) more powerful. (Slang.) □ I wish someone would soup my car up. It'll hardly run. □ Bill spent all summer souping up that old car he bought.

straighten someone out to reform someone. □ Most people think that jail never straightens anybody out. □ The judge felt that a few years at hard labor would straighten out the thief.

straighten something out to make a situation less confused. □ John made a mess of the contract, so I helped him straighten it out. Please straighten out your checking account. It’s all messed up.

take a turn for the better to start to improve; to start to get well. She was very sick for a month; then suddenly she took a turn for the better. Things are taking a turn for the better at my store. I may make a profit this year.

Things are looking up. Conditions are looking better. Since I got a salary increase, things are looking up. Things are looking up at school. I’m doing better in all my classes.

IMPROVEMENT - FINANCIAL
from rags to riches from poverty to wealth; from modesty to elegance. The princess used to be quite poor. She certainly moved from rags to riches. After I inherited the money, I went from rags to riches.

INACTION
all talk (and no action) talking about doing something, but never actually doing it. The car needs washing, but Bill is all talk and no action on this matter. Bill keeps saying he’ll get a job soon, but he’s all talk and no action. Bill won’t do it. He’s just all talk.

sit back and let something happen to relax and not interfere with something; to let something happen without playing a part in it. I can’t just sit back and let you waste all our money! Don’t worry. Just sit back and let things take care of themselves.

sit (idly) by to remain inactive when other people are doing something; to ignore a situation that calls for help. Bob sat idly by even though everyone else was hard at work. I can’t sit by while all those people need food.

sit on one’s hands to do nothing; to fail to help. When we needed help from Mary, she just sat on her hands. We need the cooperation of everyone. You can’t sit on your hands!

sit something out not to participate in something; to wait until something is over before participating. Oh, please play with us. Don’t sit it out. I’m tired of playing cards, so I think I’ll sit out this game.

take a break and take one’s break to have a short rest period in one’s work. It’s ten o’clock—time to take a break. I don’t usually take my break until 10:30.

take five to take a five-minute rest period. Okay, everybody. Take five! Hey, Bob. I’m tired. Can we take five?

without so much as doing something without even doing something. Jane borrowed Bob’s car without so much as asking his permission. Mary’s husband walked out without so much as saying good-bye.

add fuel to the fire and add fuel to the flame to make a problem worse; to say or do something that makes a bad situation worse; to make an angry person get even more angry. To spank a crying child just adds fuel to the fire. Bill was shouting angrily, and Bob tried to get him to stop by laughing at him. Of course, that was just adding fuel to the flame.

ask for trouble and look for trouble to seem to be trying to get into trouble; to do something that would cause trouble; to do or say something that will cause trouble. Stop talking to me that way, John. You’re just asking for trouble. The guard asked me to leave unless I was looking for trouble. Anybody who threatens a police officer is just asking for trouble. You’re looking for trouble if you ask the boss for a raise.

look at someone cross-eyed to do something slightly provocative. Bob is very excitable. He’d lose his temper if anyone so much as looked at him cross-eyed. Don’t even look cross-eyed at the boss this morning unless you want trouble.
make the fur fly and make the feathers fly to cause a fight or an argument; to create an uproar (about something). (Informal.) □ When your mother gets home and sees what you've done, she'll really make the fur fly. □ When those two get together, they'll make the feathers fly. They hate each other.

raise havoc with someone or something and play havoc with someone or something to create confusion or disruption for or among someone or something. □ Your announcement raised havoc with the students. □ I didn't mean to play havoc with them.

raise hob with someone or something and play hob with someone or something to do something devilish to someone or something; to cause trouble for someone or something. (A hob is a hobgoblin, a wicked little elf.) □ Your sudden arrival is going to play hob with my dinner plans. □ Sorry, I didn't mean to raise hob with you.

raise the devil (with someone or something) and raise hell (with someone or something); raise cain (with someone or something); raise the dickens (with someone or something) to act in some extreme manner; to make trouble; to behave wildly; to be very angry. (Informal. Use hell with caution.) □ John was out all night raising the devil. □ Don't come around here and raise hell with everybody. □ That cheap gas I bought really raised the dickens with my car's engine.

rock the boat to cause trouble where none is welcome; to disturb a situation that is otherwise stable and satisfactory. (Often negative.) □ Look, Tom, everything is going fine here. Don't rock the boat! □ You can depend on Tom to mess things up by rocking the boat.

stir someone up to make someone angry or excited; to make someone get active. □ I need a cup of hot coffee to stir me up in the morning. □ Reading the newspaper always stirs up my father.

burn someone up to make someone very angry. (Informal.) □ People like that just burn me up! □ It burns me up to hear you talk that way. □ His answers really burned up the committee members.

get someone's dander up and get someone's back up; get someone's hackles up; get someone's Irish up to make someone get angry. □ Now, don't get your dander up. Calm down. □ I insulted him and really got his hackles up. □ Bob had his Irish up all day yesterday. I don't know what was wrong. □ She really got her back up when I asked her for money. □ Now, now, don't get your hackles up. I didn't mean any harm.

make someone's blood boil to make someone very angry. (Informal.) □ It just makes my blood boil to think of the amount of food that gets wasted around here. □ Whenever I think of that dishonest mess, it makes my blood boil.

set someone off to get someone very excited and angry. □ Whenever I see someone mistreating an animal, it really sets me off. □ The tax bill set off Bob. He raved for an hour!

tee someone off to make someone angry. (Slang.) □ That kind of talk really tees me off! □ Don't let him tee you off. He doesn't mean any harm.

touch someone off to make someone very angry. □ Your rude comments touched Mary off. She's very angry at you. □ I didn't mean to touch off anyone. I was only being honest.

back and fill to act indecisively; to change one's direction repeatedly; to reverse one's course. (Originally nautical, referring to alternately filling the sails with wind and releasing the wind. Fixed order.) □ The president spent most of his speech backing and filling on the question of taxation. □ The other candidate was backing and filling on every issue, depending on whom she was addressing.

blow hot and cold to be changeable or uncertain (about something). (Fixed order.) □ He keeps blowing hot and cold on the question of moving to the country. □ He blows hot and cold about this. I wish he'd make up his mind.
hang in the balance to be in an undecided state; to be between two equal possibilities. □ The prisoner stood before the judge with his life hanging in the balance. □ This whole issue will have to hang in the balance until Jane gets back from her vacation.

hem and haw (around) to be uncertain about something; to be evasive; to say "ah" and "eh" when speaking—avoiding saying something meaningful. (Folksy. Fixed order.) □ Stop hemming and hawing around. I want an answer. □ Don't just hem and haw around. Speak up. We want to hear what you think.

in the balance in an undecided state. □ He stood on the edge of the cliff, his life in the balance. □ With his fortune in the balance, John rolled the dice.

paddle one's own canoe to do (something) by oneself; to be alone. □ Sally isn't with us. She's off paddling her own canoe.

shift for oneself and fend for oneself to get along by oneself; to support oneself. □ I'm sorry, I can't pay your rent anymore. You'll just have to shift for yourself. □ When I became twenty years old, I left home and began to fend for myself.

stand on one's own two feet to be independent and self-sufficient. (Informal.) □ I'll be glad when I have a good job and can stand on my own two feet. □ When Jane gets out of debt, she'll be able to stand on her own two feet again.

INFLUENCE

carry (a lot of) weight (with someone or something) to be very influential with someone or some group of people. □ Your argument does not carry a lot of weight with me. □ The senator's testimony carried a lot of weight with the

get an in (with someone) to develop a way to request a special favor from someone; to gain influence with someone. (The in is a noun.) □ Did you get an in with the mayor? I have to ask him a favor. □ Sorry, I don't have an in, but I know someone who does.

have pull with someone to have influence with someone. (Slang. Also with some, much, lots, etc.) □ Let's ask Ann to help us. She has pull with the mayor. □ Do you know anyone who has some pull with the bank president? I need a loan.

play on something to have an effect on something; to manage something for a desired effect. (The on can be replaced by upon.) □ The clerk played on my sense of responsibility in trying to get me to buy the book. □ See if you can get her to confess by playing on her sense of guilt.

pull strings to use influence (with someone to get something done). □ I can get it done easily by pulling strings. □ Is it possible to get anything done around here without pulling strings?

put the arm on someone to apply pressure to someone. (Slang.) □ John's been putting the arm on Mary to get her to go out with him. □ John has been putting the arm on Bill to get him to cooperate.

putty in someone's hands easily influenced by someone else; excessively willing to do what someone else wishes. □ Bob's wife is putty in his hands. She never thinks for herself. □ Jane's putty in her mother's hands. She always does exactly what she is told.

INFORMAL
off the record unofficial; informal. □ This is off the record, but I disagree with the mayor on this matter. □ Although her comments were off the record, the newspaper published them anyway.

INHERITANCE
niture came down through my mother's family.

INITIALLY
See BEGINNINGS.

INNOCENCE
all sweetness and light very sweet, innocent, and helpful. (Perhaps insincerely so. Fixed order.) □ She was mad at first, but after a while, she was all sweetness and light. □ At the reception, the whole family was all sweetness and light, but they argued and fought after the guests left.

(as) innocent as a lamb guiltless; naive. □ "Hey! You can't throw me in jail," cried the robber. "I'm innocent as a lamb." □ Look at the baby, as innocent as a lamb.

babe in the woods a naive or innocent person; an inexperienced person. □ Bill is a babe in the woods when it comes to dealing with plumbers. □ As a painter, Mary is fine, but she's a babe in the woods as a musician.

in the clear innocent; not guilty. □ Don't worry, Tom. I'm sure you're in the clear. □ I'll feel better when I get into the clear.

keep one's nose clean to keep out of trouble, especially trouble with the law. (Slang.) □ I'm trying to keep my nose clean by staying away from those rough guys. □ John, if you don't learn how to keep your nose clean, you're going to end up in jail.

INQUIRY
feel someone out to try to find out how someone feels (about something). (Informal. This does not involve touching anyone.) □ Sally tried to feel Tom out on whether he'd make a contribution. □ The students felt out their parents to find out what they thought about the proposed party.

ferret something out of someone or something to remove or retrieve something from someone or something, usually with cunning and persistence. □ I tried very hard, but I couldn't ferret the information out of the clerk. □ I had to ferret out the answer from a book in the library.

fire away (at someone) to ask many questions of someone; to criticize someone severely. □ When it came time for questions, the reporters began firing away at the mayor. □ Members of the opposite party are always firing away at the president.

fish for something to try to get information (from someone). □ The lawyer was fishing for evidence. □ The teacher spent a lot of time fishing for the right answer from the students.

pick someone's brain(s) to talk with someone to find out information about something. □ I spent the afternoon with Donna, picking her brain for ideas to use in our celebration. □ Do you mind if I pick your brains? I need some fresh ideas.

worm something out of someone to get some kind of information out of someone. (Informal.) □ He didn't want to tell me the truth, but I finally wormed it out of him. □ She succeeded in worming the secret out of me. I didn't mean to tell it.

put out (some) feelers to attempt to find out something without being too obvious. □ I wanted to get a new job, so I put out some feelers. □ The manager was mean to everyone in the office, so everyone put out feelers in an attempt to find new jobs.

add insult to injury to make a bad situation worse; to hurt the feelings of a person who has already been hurt. □ First, the basement flooded, and then, to add insult to injury, a pipe burst in the kitchen. □ My car barely started this morning, and to add insult to injury, I got a flat tire in the driveway.

call someone names to call a person unpleasant or insulting names. (Usually viewed as a juvenile act.) □ Mommy! John is calling me names again! □ We'll never get anywhere by calling one another names.

put someone's nose out of joint to offend someone; to cause someone to feel slighted or insulted. (Informal.) □ I'm afraid I put his nose out of joint by not inviting him to the picnic. □ There is no reason to put your nose out of joint. I meant no harm.

slap in the face an insult; an act that causes disappointment or discouragement. □ Losing the election was a slap in the face for the club president. □ Failing to get into a good college was a slap in the face to Tim after his years of study.

take a dig at someone and take digs at someone to insult someone; to say something that will irritate a person. (Slang.) □ Jane took a dig at Bob for being late all the time. □ Jane is always taking digs at Bob, but she never really means any harm.

talk down to someone to speak to someone in a patronizing manner; to speak to someone in the simplest way. □ The manager insulted everyone in the office by talking down to them. □ Please don't talk down to me. I can understand almost anything you have to say.

thumb one's nose at someone or something to (figuratively or literally) make a rude gesture of disgust with one's thumb and nose at someone or something. □ The tramp thumbed his nose at the lady and walked away. □ You can't just thumb your nose at people who give you trouble. You've got to learn to get along.

INTELLIGENCE

(as) sharp as a razor very sharp-witted or intelligent. □ The old man's senile, but his wife is as sharp as a razor. □ Don't say too much in front of the child. She's as sharp as a razor.

gray matter intelligence; brains; power of thought. (Informal.) □ Use your gray matter and think what will happen if the committee resigns. □ Surely they'll come up with an acceptable solution if they use some gray matter.

have a good head on one's shoulders to have common sense; to be sensible and intelligent. □ Mary doesn't do well in school, but she's got a good head on her shoulders. John has a good head on his shoulders and can be depended on to give good advice.

have a mind like a steel trap to have a very sharp and agile mind; to have a mind capable of fast, incisive thought. Sally can handle the questioning. She has a mind like a steel trap. If I had a mind like a steel trap, I wouldn't have so much trouble concentrating.

quick on the uptake quick to understand (something). Just because I'm not quick on the uptake, it doesn't mean I'm stupid. Mary understands jokes before anyone else because she's so quick on the uptake.

use one's head and use one's noggin; use one's noodle to use one's own intelligence. (The words noggin and noodle are slang terms for "head."). You can do better in math if you'll just use your head. Jane uses her noggin and gets things done correctly and on time. Yes, she sure knows how to use her noodle.

come in out of the rain to become alert and sensible; to come down to earth. Pay attention, Sally! Come in out of the rain! Bill will fail if he doesn't come in out of the rain and study.

go over someone's head [for the intellectual content of something] to be too difficult for someone to understand. All that talk about computers went over my head. I hope my lecture didn't go over the students' heads.

IN Patrol

See also PLANNING.

cook something up to plot something; to improvise something. Mary cooked an interesting party up at the last minute. Let me see if I can cook up a way to get you some money.

have a (good) mind to do something to be tempted to do something; to be on the verge of doing something that one has thought about. I have a good mind to tell her just exactly what I think of her.

make a point of doing something to make an effort to do something. Please make a point of mailing this letter. It's very important. The hostess made a point of thanking me for bringing flowers.

mean to (do something) to intend to do something. Did you mean to do that? No, it was an accident. I didn't mean to.

with a view to doing something and with an eye to doing something with the intention of doing something. I came to this school with a view to getting a degree. The mayor took office with an eye to improving the town.

INTEREST

strike someone's fancy to appeal to someone. I'll have some ice cream, please. Chocolate strikes my fancy right now. Why don't you go to the store and buy a record album that strikes your fancy?

take an interest (in something) to develop an interest in something. I wish John would take an interest in his schoolwork. We hoped you'd take an interest and join our club.

The plot thickens. Things are becoming more complicated or interesting. The police assumed that the woman was murdered by her ex-husband, but he has an alibi. The plot thickens. John is supposed to be going out with Mary, but I saw him last night with Sally. The plot thickens.

tickle someone's fancy to interest someone; to make someone curious. □ I have an interesting problem here that I think will tickle your fancy. □ This doesn’t tickle my fancy at all. This is dull and boring.

whet someone’s appetite to cause someone to be interested in something and to be eager to have, know, learn, etc., more about it. □ Seeing that film really whetted my sister’s appetite for horror films. She now sees as many as possible. □ My appetite for theater was whetted when I was very young.

get the third degree to be questioned in great detail for a long period. (Slang.) □ Why is it I get the third degree from you every time I come home late? □ Poor Sally spent all night at the police station getting the third degree.

give someone the third degree to question someone in great detail for a long period. (Slang.) □ The police gave Sally the third degree. □ Stop giving me the third degree. I told you what I know.

another country heard from a catch phrase said when someone makes a comment or interrupts. □ Jane and Bill were discussing business when Bob interrupted to offer an opinion. “Another country heard from,” said Jane. □ In the middle of the discussion, the baby started crying. “Another country heard from,” said Tom.

barge in (on someone or something) to break in on someone or something; to interrupt someone or something. □ Oh! I'm sorry. I didn't mean to barge in on you. □ They barged in on the church service and caused a commotion. □ You can't just barge in like that!

burst in on someone or something to enter a room, interrupting someone or some activity. (Often without knocking or seeking permission to enter.) □ Tom burst in on his sister and her boyfriend while they were kissing. □ I must ask you not to burst in on a board meeting again. Whatever it is can wait.

butt in (on someone or something) to interrupt someone or something. □ Pardon me for butting in on your conversation, but this is important. □ John butted in on Tom and Jane to tell them that the mail had come. □ That’s a strange reason to butt in. What was in the mail?

open one’s heart (to someone) to reveal one’s inmost thoughts to someone. □ I always open my heart to my spouse when I have a problem. □ It’s a good idea to open your heart every now and then.

pour one’s heart (out to someone) to tell all one’s hopes, fears, and feelings to someone. □ She was so upset. She poured her heart out to Sally. □ She sat there talking for over an hour—pouring out her heart.

INTOXICATION - ALCOHOL/DRUGS

strung out doped or drugged. (Slang.) □ Bob acted very strangely—as if he were strung out or something. □ I’ve never seen Bob or any of his friends strung out.

INTOXICATION - DRUGS

high on something intoxicated with some drug. □ He got thrown out of the movie because he was high on something. □ Bill was high on marijuana and was singing loudly.

horn in (on someone) to attempt to displace someone. (Informal.) □ I’m going to ask Sally to the party. Don’t you dare try to horn in on me! □ I wouldn’t think of horning in.

horn in (on something) to attempt to participate in something without invitation or consent. □ Are you trying to horn in on my conversation with Sally? □ I hope you are not trying to horn in on our party.

keep one’s nose out of someone’s business to refrain from interfering in someone else’s business. □ Let John have his privacy, and keep your nose out of my business, too! □ Keep your nose out of my business!
move in on someone to attempt to displace someone or take over someone’s property, interests, or relationships. (Slang, especially criminal slang.) □ Look here, pal, Sally’s my girl. Are you trying to move in on me? □ It looks like the south-side gang is trying to move in. We’ll have to teach them a lesson.

muscle in (on someone or something) to try forcefully to displace someone or take over someone’s property, interests, or relationships. (Slang, especially criminal slang.) □ Are you trying to muscle in on my scheme? □ If you try to muscle in, you’ll be facing big trouble.

out of the swim of things not in the middle of activity; not involved in things. (Informal.) □ While I had my cold, I was out of the swim of things.
I’ve been out of the swim of things for a few weeks. Please bring me up to date.

IRRELEVANCE

beside the point and beside the question irrelevant; of no importance.

That’s very interesting, but beside the point.

That’s beside the point. You’re evading the issue.

Your observation is beside the question.

make no difference (to someone) not to matter to someone; for someone not to care (about something).

It makes no difference to me what you do.

Do whatever you want. It really makes no difference.

off the track irrelevant and immaterial (comments).

I’m afraid you’re off the track, John. Try again.

I’m sorry. I was thinking about dinner, and I got off the track.

close ranks (with someone) to join with someone. □ We can fight this menace only if we close ranks. □ Let's all close ranks with Ann and adopt her suggestions.

come over to join this party or side; to change sides or affiliation. □ Tom was formerly an enemy spy, but last year he came over. □ I thought that Bill was a Republican. When did he come over?

fall in(to) line to line up with each person (except the first person) standing behind someone. □ The teacher told the students to fall in line for lunch. □ Hungry students fall into line very quickly.

fall in with someone to meet someone by accident; to join with someone. □ John has fallen in with a strange group of people. □ We fell in with some people from our hometown when we went on vacation.

figure in something [for a person] to play a role in something. □ Tom figures in our plans for a new building. □ I don't wish to figure in your future.

get in on something to become associated with something, such as an organization or an idea; to find out or be told about special plans. (Also with be, as in the final example.) □ There is a party upstairs, and I want to get in on it. □ I want to get in on your club's activities. □ Mary and Jane know a secret, and I want to get in on it. □ I'm happy to be in on your celebration. □ There is going to be a surprise party, and I'm in on it.

get into the act to try to be part of whatever is going on. (As if someone were trying to get on stage and participate in a performance.) □ I can do this by myself. There is no need for you to get into the act. □ Everyone wants to get into the act. Please let us do it. We don't need your help!

get into the swing of things to join into the routine or the activities. □ Come on, Bill. Try to get into the swing of things. □ John just couldn't seem to get into the swing of things.

get involved (with someone) to become associated with someone. (Sometimes romantically involved.) □ Sally is getting involved with Bill. They've been seeing a lot of each other. □ I hope they don't get too involved. □ He didn't want his son involved with the gangs.

get on the bandwagon and jump on the bandwagon to join the popular side (of an issue); to take a popular position.
You really should get on the bandwagon. Everyone else is. Jane has always had her own ideas about things. She’s not the kind of person to jump on the bandwagon.

Go in for something to take part in something; to enjoy (doing) something. John doesn’t go in for sports. None of them seems to go in for swimming.

Johnny-come-lately someone who joins in (something) after it is under way. Don’t pay any attention to Sally. She’s just a Johnny-come-lately and doesn’t know what she’s talking about. We’ve been here for thirty years. Why should some Johnny-come-lately tell us what to do?

Join forces (with someone) to unite with someone. We joined forces with the police to search for the lost child. The choirs joined forces to sing the song.

Take part (in something) to participate in something. They invited me to take part in their celebration. I was quite pleased to take part.

Tie into something to connect to something. I’m trying to get my home computer to tie in with the big one at the university. Could I tie into your water line while I’m waiting for mine to be repaired?

Joking

Crack a joke to tell a joke. (Informal.) She’s never serious. She’s always cracking jokes. As long as she’s cracking jokes, she’s okay.

Kid around (with someone) to tease and joke with someone. (Informal.) I like to kid around with John. We are great friends. Yes, John and I used to kid around a lot.

Make cracks (about someone or something) to ridicule or make jokes about someone or something. (Informal.) Please stop making cracks about my haircut. It’s the new style. Some people can’t help making cracks. They are just rude.

Justice

Face the music to receive punishment; to accept the unpleasant results of one’s actions. Mary broke a dining-room window and had to face the music when her father got home. After failing a math test, Tom had to go home and face the music.

Get what’s coming to one to get what one deserves. If you cheat, you’ll get in trouble. You’ll get what’s coming to you. Billy got what was coming to him.

Have something coming (to one) to deserve punishment (for something). Bill broke a window, so he has a spanking coming to him. That’s it, Bill. Now you’ve got it coming!

Miscarriage of justice a wrong or mistaken decision, especially one made in a court of law. Sentencing the old man on a charge of murder proved to be a miscarriage of justice. Punishing the student for cheating was a miscarriage of justice. He was innocent.

Poetic justice the appropriate but chance receiving of rewards or punishments by those deserving them. It was poetic justice that Jane won the race after Mary tried to get her banned. The car thieves stole a car with no gas. That’s poetic justice.
KINDNESS

all wool and a yard wide genuinely warmhearted and friendly. (Informal and folksy. Refers to woolen cloth that is 100% wool and exactly one yard wide.) □ Old Bob is a true gentleman—all wool and a yard wide. □ The banker, hardly all wool and a yard wide, wouldn’t give us a loan.

have a heart of gold to be generous, sincere, and friendly. □ Mary is such a lovely person. She has a heart of gold. □ You think Tom stole your watch? Impossible! He has a heart of gold.

milk of human kindness natural kindness and sympathy shown to others. (From Shakespeare’s play Macbeth, I. v.) □ Mary is completely hard and selfish—she has no milk of human kindness in her. □ Roger is too full of the milk of human kindness and people take advantage of him.

one’s heart is in the right place [for one] to have good intentions, even if the results are bad. □ She gave it a good try. Her heart was in the right place. □ He is awkward, but his heart is in the right place.

not care two hoots about someone or something not to care are all about someone or something. □ I don’t care two hoots about whether you go to the picnic or not. □ She doesn’t care two hoots about me. Why should I care?

ride roughshod over someone or something to treat someone or something with disdain or scorn. □ Tom seems to ride roughshod over his friends. □ You shouldn’t have come into our town to ride roughshod over our laws and our traditions.

one and only one’s spouse. (Informal. Fixed order.) □ Look at the time. I’ve got to get home to my one and only. □ You’re my one and only. There is no one else for me.

one’s better half one’s spouse. (Usually refers to a wife.) □ I think we’d like to come for dinner, but I’ll have to ask my better half. □ I have to go home now to my better half. We are going out tonight.

run in the family for a characteristic to appear in all (or most) members of a family. □ My grandparents lived well into their nineties, and it runs in the family. □ My brothers and I have red hair. It runs in the family.
A little knowledge is a dangerous thing, a proverb meaning that incomplete knowledge can embarrass or harm someone or something. The doctor said, "Just because you've had a course in first aid, you shouldn't have treated your own illness. A little knowledge is a dangerous thing." John thought he knew how to take care of the garden, but he killed all the flowers. A little knowledge is a dangerous thing.

(as) far as anyone knows and so far as anyone knows to the limits of anyone's knowledge. (Informal. The anyone can be replaced with a more specific noun or pronoun.) As far as anyone knows, this is the last of the great herds of buffalo. Far as I know, this is the best one. These are the only keys to the house so far as anyone knows.

feel something in one's bones and know something in one's bones to sense something; to have an intuition about something. (Informal.) The train will be late. I feel it in my bones. I failed the test. I know it in my bones.

gold mine of information someone or something that is full of information. Grandfather is a gold mine of information about World War I. The new encyclopedia is a positive gold mine of useful information.

have a clue (about something) to know anything about something; to have even a hint about someone or something. (Usually negative.) I don't have a clue about where to start looking for Jim. Why do you think I have a clue about Tom's disappearance?

have a good command of something to know something well. Bill has a good command of French. Jane has a good command of economic theory.

in the know knowledgeable. (Informal. In can be replaced with into.) Let's ask Bob. He's in the know. I have no knowledge of how to work this machine. I think I can get into the know very quickly though.

know a thing or two (about someone or something) to be well informed about someone or something; to know something unpleasant about someone or something. (Informal.) I know a thing or two about cars. I know a thing or two about Mary that would really shock you.

know a trick or two to know some special way of dealing with a problem. I think I can handle all of this with no trouble. I know a trick or two. I may be a senior citizen, but I still know a trick or two. I think I can help you with this.

know better to be wise, experienced, or well taught. Mary should have known better than to accept a lift from a stranger. Children should know better than to play in the road.

burst out laughing to begin to laugh suddenly. The entire audience burst out laughing at exactly the wrong time, and so did the actors. Every time I think of you sitting there with a lap full of noodle soup, I burst out laughing.

crack someone up to make someone laugh. She told a joke that really cracked us up. I cracked up my history class with a silly remark.

crack up [for someone] to break out in laughter. The audience really cracked up during the second act. The class cracked up when I told my joke, but the teacher didn’t like it.

die laughing to laugh very long and hard. (Informal.) The joke was so funny that I almost died laughing. The play was meant to be funny, but the audience didn’t exactly die laughing.

get the last laugh to laugh at or ridicule someone who has laughed at or ridiculed you; to put someone in the same bad position that you were once in; to turn the tables (on someone). John laughed when I got a D on the final exam. I got the last laugh, though. He failed the course. Mr. Smith said I was foolish when I bought an old building. I had the last laugh when I sold it a month later for twice what I paid for it.

have them rolling in the aisles to make an audience roll in the aisles with laughter. (Slang.) I have the best jokes you’ve ever heard. I’ll have them rolling in the aisles. What a great performance. We had them rolling in the aisles.

He who laughs last, laughs longest.

He who laughs best who laughs last. A proverb meaning that whoever succeeds in making the last move or pulling the last trick has the most enjoyment. Bill had pulled many silly tricks on Tom. Finally Tom pulled a very funny trick on Bill and said, “He who laughs last, laughs longest.” Bill pulled another, even bigger, trick on Tom and said, laughing, “He laughs best who laughs last.”

keep someone in stitches to cause someone to laugh loud and hard, over and over. (Informal. Also with have.) I have the best jokes you’ve ever heard. I’ll have them rolling in the aisles. The teacher kept the class in stitches, but the students didn’t learn anything. She had us in stitches for ten minutes.

in part partly; to a lesser degree or extent. □ I was not there, in part because of my disagreement about the purpose of the meeting. I also had a previous appointment. □ I hope to win, in part because I want the prize money.

to some extent to some degree; in some amount; partly. □ I've solved this problem to some extent. □ I can help you understand this to some extent.

PARTICIPATION
See INVOLVEMENT.

PATIENCE
all in good time at some future time; in good time; soon. (This phrase is used to encourage people to be patient and wait quietly.) □ When will the baby be born? All in good time. □ MARY: I'm starved! When will Bill get here with the pizza? TOM: All in good time, Mary, all in good time.

bear with someone or something to be patient with someone or something; to endure someone or something. □ Please bear with me while I fill out this form. □ Please bear with my old car. It'll get us there sooner or later.

bide one's time to wait patiently. □ I've been biding my time for years, just waiting for a chance like this. □ He's not the type just to sit there and bide his time. He wants some action.

Keep your shirt on! Be patient! (Slang. Usually considered rude.) □ Hey, keep your shirt on! I'll be with you in a minute. □ I'll bring you your hamburger when it's cooked. Just keep your shirt on, friend.

sit tight to wait; to wait patiently. (Informal. This does not necessarily refer to sitting.) □ Just relax and sit tight. I'll be right with you. □ We were waiting in line for the gates to open when someone came out and told us to sit tight because it wouldn't be much longer before we could go in.

stand by to wait and remain ready. (Generally heard in communication, such as broadcasting, telephones, etc.) □ Your transatlantic telephone call is almost ready. Please stand by. □ Is everyone ready for the telecast? Only ten seconds—stand by.

PAYMENT
See also FINANCIAL, MONEY.

buy something on credit to purchase something now and pay for it later (plus interest). □ Almost everyone who buys a house buys it on credit. □ I didn't have any cash with me, so I used my credit card and bought a new coat on credit.

foot the bill to pay the bill; to pay (for something). □ Let's go out and eat. I'll foot the bill. □ If the bank goes broke, don't worry. The government will foot the bill.

fork money out (for something) to pay (perhaps unwillingly) for something. (Informal. Often mention is made of the amount of money. See the examples.) □ Do you think I'm going to fork twenty dollars out for that book? □ Forking money out to everyone is part of life in a busy economy. I like that stereo, but I don't want to fork out a lot of money.

make good on something to repay a debt. I couldn't make good on my debts, and I got in a lot of trouble. If you don't make good on this bill, I'll have to take back your car.

on account [money paid or owed] on a debt. I paid twelve dollars on account last month. Wasn't that enough? I still have $100 due on account.

pay a king's ransom (for something) to pay a great deal for something. (To pay an amount as large as one might have to pay to get back a king held for ransom.) I would like to buy a nice watch, but I don't want to pay a king's ransom for it. It's a lovely house. I had to pay a king's ransom, but it is worth it.

pay an arm and a leg (for something) and pay through the nose (for something) to pay too much [money] for something. (Informal.) I hate to have to pay an arm and a leg for a tank of gas. If you shop around, you won't have to pay an arm and a leg. Why should you pay through the nose?

pay as you go to pay costs as they occur; to pay for goods as they are bought (rather than charging them). You ought to pay as you go. Then you won't be in debt. If you pay as you go, you'll never spend too much money.

pay for something to pay out money for something. Did you pay for the magazine, or shall I? No, I'll pay for it.

pay in advance to pay (for something) before it is received or delivered. I want to make a special order. Will I have to pay in advance? Yes, please pay in advance.

shell something out to pay money (out). (Slang.) You'll have to shell plenty out to settle this bill. The traffic ticket turned out to be very expensive. I had to shell out $150.

dark horse someone or something whose abilities, plans, or feelings are little known to others. (From horse racing.) It's difficult to predict who will win the prize—there are two or three dark horses in the tournament. Everyone was surprised at the results of the election. The dark horse won.

doubting Thomas someone who will not easily believe something without strong proof or evidence. (From the biblical account of the apostle Thomas, who would not believe that Christ had risen from the grave until he had touched Him.) Mary won't believe that I have a dog until she sees it. She's such a doubting Thomas. Bill's school is full of doubting Thomases. They want to see his new bike with their own eyes.

Dutch uncle a man who gives frank and direct advice to someone in the manner of a parent or relative. I would not have to lecture you like a Dutch uncle if you were not so extravagant. He acts more like a Dutch uncle than a husband. He's forever telling her what to do in public.

glutton for punishment someone who seems to like doing or seeking out difficult, unpleasant, or badly paid tasks. If you want to work for this charity, you'll have to be a glutton for punishment and work long hours for nothing. Jane must be a real glutton for punishment. She’s typing Bill’s manuscript free of charge, and he doesn’t even thank her.

highflier a person who is ambitious or who is very likely to be successful. (Informal.) Jack was one of the highfliers of our university year, and he is now in the foreign office. Tom is a highflier and has applied for the post of managing director.

jack-of-all-trades someone who can do several different jobs instead of specializing in one. John can do plumbing, carpentry, and roofing—a real jack-of-all-trades. He isn’t very good at any of them. Take your car to a trained mechanic, not a jack-of-all-trades.

man-about-town a fashionable man who leads a sophisticated life. He prefers wine bars to pubs—quite a man-about-town. Jack’s too much of a man-about-town to go to a football game.

man in the street the ordinary person. Politicians rarely care what the man in the street thinks. The man in the street has little interest in literature.

night owl someone who usually stays up very late. Anne’s a real night owl. She never goes to bed before 2 A.M. and sleeps till noon. Jack’s a night owl and is at his best after midnight.

Mr. Hyde by Robert Louis Stevenson. Fixed order.) □ Bill thinks Mary is so soft and gentle, but she can be very cruel—she is a real Jekyll and Hyde. □ Jane doesn’t know that Fred is a Jekyll and Hyde. She sees him only when he is being kind and generous, but he can be very cruel.

small fry unimportant people. □ The police have only caught the small fry. The leader of the gang is still free. □ You people are just small fry! I want to talk to the boss.

so-and-so a despised person. (Informal. This expression is used in place of other very insulting terms. Often modified, as in the examples.) □ You dirty so-and-so! I can’t stand you! □ Don’t you call me a so-and-so, you creep!

son of a bitch a very horrible person. (Informal. Use with caution. Usually intended as a strong insult. Never used casually.) □ Bill called Bob a son of a bitch, and Bob punched Bill in the face. □ This guy’s a son of a bitch. He treats everybody rotten.

son of a gun a horrible person. (Informal.) □ When is that plumber going to show up and fix this leak? The stupid son of a gun! □ Bob is a rotten son of a gun if he thinks he can get away with that.

square peg in a round hole a misfit. □ John can’t seem to get along with the people he works with. He’s just a square peg in a round hole. □ I’m not a square peg in a round hole. It’s just that no one understands me.

stick-in-the-mud someone who is stubbornly old-fashioned. □ Come on to the party with us and have some fun. Don’t be an old stick-in-the-mud! □ Tom is no stick-in-the-mud. He’s really up-to-date.

villain of the piece someone or something that is responsible for something bad or wrong. □ I wondered who told the newspapers about the local scandal. I discovered that Joan was the villain of the piece. □ We couldn’t think who had stolen the meat. The dog next door turned out to be the villain of the piece.

wet blanket a dull or depressing person who spoils other people’s enjoyment. □ Jack’s fun at parties, but his brother’s a wet blanket. □ I was with Anne and she was being a real wet blanket.

apple of someone’s eye someone’s favorite person or thing; a boyfriend or a girlfriend. □ Tom is the apple of Mary’s eye. She thinks he’s great. □ John’s new stereo is the apple of his eye.

ball of fire a very active and energetic person who always succeeds. (Usually considered slang.) □ Sally is a real ball of fire—she works late every night. □ Ann is no ball of fire, but she does get the job done.

diamond in the rough a valuable or potentially excellent person or thing hidden by an unpolished or rough exterior. □ Ann looks like a stupid woman, but she’s a fine person—a real diamond in the rough. □ That piece of property is a diamond in the rough. Someday it will be valuable.

life of the party the type of person who is lively and helps make a party fun and exciting. □ Bill is always the life of the party. Be sure to invite him. □ Bob isn’t exactly the life of the party, but he’s polite.

none other than someone the very person. □ The new building was opened by none other than the mayor. □ Jack’s wife turned out to be none other than my cousin.

prime mover the force that sets something going; someone or something that starts something off. □ The manager was the prime mover in getting the clerk fired. □ Discontent with his job was the prime mover in John’s deciding to go to Alaska.

salt of the earth the most worthy of people; a very good or worthy person. (A biblical reference, Matthew 5:13.) □ Mrs. Jones is the salt of the earth. She is the first to help anyone in trouble. □ Frank’s mother is the salt of the earth. She has five children of her own and yet fosters three others.
(some) new blood new personnel; new members brought into a group to revive it. □ This company needs some new blood on its board to bring in new ideas. □ We’re trying to get some new blood in the club. Our membership is falling. □ Our club needs new blood. It has become boring. □ The firm’s management has at last got a little new blood. Things should improve now.

PEOPLE - PROUD

enter one's mind to come to one's mind; [for an idea or memory] to come into one's consciousness. Leave you behind? The thought never even entered my mind. A very interesting idea just entered my mind. What if I ran for Congress?
go down in history to be remembered as historically important. Bill is so great. I'm sure that he'll go down in history. This is the greatest party of the century. I bet it'll go down in history.
hang on (to someone or something) and hold on (to someone or something) to remember someone or something for a long time; to be affected very much by someone or something in the past. (Never with the literal sense of grasping or holding.) That's a nice thought, Bob. Hang on to it. You've been holding on to those bad memories for too long. It's time to let them go. Yes, I can't keep hanging on.
have something on the tip of one's tongue to be on the verge of remembering a specific fact, such as someone's name; to have just forgotten a specific fact. Just give me a minute. I have her name on the tip of my tongue! I had her name on the tip of my tongue, but you made me forget it when you called.
keep someone or something in mind and bear someone or something in mind to remember and think about someone or something. When you're driving a car, you must bear this in mind at all times. Keep your eyes on the road. As you leave home, keep your family in mind.
think back (on someone or something) to remember and think about someone or something. When I think back on Sally and the good times we had together, I get very sad. I like to think back on my childhood and try to remember what it was like.
REMOVAL
bail something out to remove water from the bottom of a boat by dipping or scooping. Tom has to bail the boat out before we get in. You should always bail out a boat before using it. clear the table to remove the dishes and other eating utensils from the table after a meal. Will you please help clear the table? After you clear the table, we'll play cards.
cut out the deadwood to remove unproductive persons from employment. This company would be more profitable if management would cut out the deadwood. When we cut out the deadwood, all our departments will run more smoothly.
eat away at someone or something to remove parts, bit by bit. John's disease was eating away at him. The acid in the rain slowly ate away at the stone wall.
edge someone out to remove a person from a job, office, or position, usually by beating the person in competition. The vice president edged the president out during the last election. Tom edged out Bob as the new cook at the restaurant.
elbow someone out of something to force or pressure someone out of something, such as an office, post, or status. The old head of the company was elbowed out of office by a young vice president. They tried to elbow me out, but I held on to what was mine.
kick someone or something out and boot someone or something out to force someone to leave somewhere. □ I lived at home until I was eighteen and my father kicked me out. □ He kicked out his own child? □ Yes. He booted out my brother when he was twenty.

take someone or something away to remove someone or something. □ I don’t want any more soup. Please take it away.
□ Take away Bill and John. They are bothering me.

REPUTATION
get a black eye to have one’s character or reputation harmed. □ Mary got a black eye because of her complaining. □ The whole group now has a black eye.

get a reputation (as a something) to become recognized for being something. □ You’ll get a reputation as a cheater. □ She once had a reputation as a singer. □ Behave yourself, or you’ll get a reputation. □ Unfortunately, Tom’s got a reputation.

get a reputation (for doing something) to become recognized for doing something. □ You’ll get a reputation for cheating. □ I don’t want to get a reputation. □ He’s got a bad reputation. □ I have a reputation for being honest.

give someone a reputation (as a something) to become recognized for being something. □ You’ll get a reputation as a cheater. □ She once had a reputation as a singer. □ Behave yourself, or you’ll get a reputation. □ Unfortunately, Tom’s got a reputation.

give someone a reputation (for doing something) to cause someone to be known for doing something. □ Her excellent parties gave Jane a reputation for entertaining well. □ You had better be careful or your behavior will give you a reputation.

make an impression (on someone) to produce a memorable effect on someone. (Often with good, bad, or some other adjective.) □ Tom made a bad impression on the banker. □ I’m afraid that you haven’t made a very good impression on our visitors. □ You made quite an impression on my father.

rate with someone to be in someone’s favor; to be thought of highly by someone. □ Ann is great. She really rates with me. □ She doesn’t rate with me at all.

REQUESTING
at someone’s request due to someone’s request; on being asked by someone. □ At his mother’s request, Tom stopped playing the saxophone. □ At the request of the police officer, Bill pulled his car over to the side of the road.

one’s for the asking can become one’s property if one asks for it. □ I have a cherry pie here. A slice is yours for the asking if you want it. □ Uncle Mac said we could have his old car if we wanted it. It was ours for the asking.

prevail (up) on someone to ask or beg someone (for a favor). □ Can I prevail upon you to give me some help? □ Perhaps you could prevail on my brother for a loan.

stand and deliver to give up something to someone who demands it. (Originally used by highway robbers asking for passengers' valuables. Now used figuratively. Fixed order.) □ And when the tax agent says "Stand and deliver" you have to be prepared to pay what is demanded. □ The robber stopped the coach and demanded of Lady Ellen, "Stand and deliver!"

trouble someone for something to ask someone to pass something or give something. (Usually a question.) □ Could I trouble you for the salt? □ Could I trouble you for some advice?

trouble someone to do something to ask someone to do something. (Usually a question.) □ Could I trouble you to pass the salt? □ Could I trouble you to give me some advice?

turn to someone or something (for something) to seek something from someone or something. □ I turned to Ann for help. □ Bill turned to aspirin for relief from his headache.

RESCUED

saved by the bell rescued from a difficult or dangerous situation just in time by something that brings the situation to a sudden end. (From the sounding of a bell marking the end of a round in a boxing match.) □ James didn't know the answer to the question but he was saved by the bell when the teacher was called away from the room. □ I couldn't think of anything to say to the woman at the bus stop, but I was saved by the bell when my bus arrived.

ace in the hole something or someone held (secretly) in reserve; anything that can help in an emergency. (Slang. Refers to an ace dealt facedown in poker.) □ The hostages served as the terrorists' ace in the hole for getting what they wanted. □ The twenty-dollar bill in my shoe is my ace in the hole.

leave something for another occasion and keep something for another occasion to hold back something for later. (Occasion can be replaced with time, day, person, etc.) □ Please leave some cake for me. □ Don't eat all the turkey. Leave some for another day. □ I have to keep some of my paycheck for next month.

put (one's) dibs on something to lay a claim to something; to state one's claim to something. □ I put dibs on the last piece of cake. □ Mary put her dibs on the book you are reading. She gets it next.

spoken for taken; reserved (for someone). □ I'm sorry, but this one is already spoken for. □ Pardon me. Can I sit here, or is this seat spoken for?

RESOURCEFULNESS

in awe (of someone or something) fearful and respectful of someone or something. □ Everyone in the country was in awe of the king and queen. □ I love my new car. In fact, I'm in awe of it. □ When I first saw the house, I just stood there in awe.

look up to someone to view someone with respect and admiration. □ Bill really looks up to his father. □ Everyone in the class looked up to the teacher.

on bended knee kneeling, as in supplication. (The verb form is obsolescent and occurs now only in this phrase.) □ Do you expect me to come to you on bended knee and ask you for forgiveness? □ The suitors came on bended knee and begged the attention of the princess.

put someone on a pedestal to respect, admire, or worship a person. □ He has put her on a pedestal and thinks she can do no wrong. Don't put me on a pedestal. I'm only human.

sacred cow something that is regarded by some people with such respect and veneration that they do not like it being criticized by anyone in any way. (From the fact that the cow is regarded as sacred in India and is not eaten or mistreated.) A university education is a sacred cow in the Smith family. Fred is regarded as a failure because he quit school at 16. Don't talk about eating meat to Pam. Vegetarianism is one of her sacred cows.

sit at someone's feet to admire someone greatly; to be influenced by someone's teaching; to be taught by someone. Jack sat at the feet of Picasso when he was studying in Europe. Tom would love to sit at the feet of the musician Yehudi Menuhin.

get the red-carpet treatment to receive very special treatment; to receive royal treatment. (This refers—sometimes literally—to the rolling out of a clean red carpet for someone to walk on.) I love to go to fancy stores where I get the red-carpet treatment. The queen expects to get the red-carpet treatment wherever she goes.

in honor of someone or something showing respect or admiration for someone or something. Our club gave a party in honor of the club's president. I wrote a poem in honor of John and Mary's marriage.

pay lip service to express loyalty, respect, or support for something insincerely. You don't really care about politics. You're just paying lip service to the candidate. Don't sit here and pay lip service. Get busy!

acknowledge receipt to inform the sender that what was sent was received. (Commonly used in business correspondence.) In a letter to a shoe company, Mary wrote, "I'm happy to acknowledge receipt of four dozen pairs of shoes." John acknowledged receipt of the bill. The package hasn't arrived, so I'm unable to acknowledge receipt.

draw someone out to coax someone to speak or answer; to bring someone into a conversation or other social interaction. Jane is usually very shy with older men, but Tom really drew her out last evening. John drew out Mr. Smith on the question of tax increases.

get a rise out of someone to get a response from someone, usually anger or laughter. (Informal.) Mary really liked my joke. I knew I could get a rise out of her. I got a rise out of him by telling him to go home.

get back (to someone) to continue talking with someone (at a later time); to find out information and tell it to a person (at a later time). I don't have the answer to that question right now. Let me find out and get back to you. Okay. Please try to get back early tomorrow.

quick on the trigger quick to respond to anything. John gets the right answer before anyone else. He's really quick on the trigger. Sally will probably win the quiz game. She's really quick on the draw.

rise to the bait to be lured by some kind of bait. I threatened to take another job elsewhere, but the boss did not rise to the bait. When I said I was leaving, Ted rose to the bait and asked why.

at someone's doorstep and on someone's doorstep in someone's care; as someone's responsibility. Why do you always have to lay your problems at my doorstep? I shall put this issue on someone else's doorstep. I don't want it on my doorstep.

be one's brother's keeper to be responsible for someone else. I can't force these kids to go to school and get an education so they can get jobs. I am not my brother's keeper. You can't expect me to be my brother's keeper. Each of us should be responsible! do one’s duty to do one’s job; to do what is expected of one. □ Please don’t thank me. I’m just doing my duty. □ Soldiers who fight in wars are doing their duty.

duty bound (to do something) forced by a sense of duty and honor to do something. □ Good evening, madam. I’m duty bound to inform you that we have arrested your husband. □ No one made me say that. I was duty bound.

have broad shoulders to have the ability to take on unpleasant responsibilities; to have the ability to accept criticism or rebuke. □ No need to apologize to me. I can take it. I have broad shoulders. □ Karen may have broad shoulders, but she can’t endure endless criticism.

have the ball in one’s court to be responsible for the next move in some process; to have to make a response to something that someone else has started. □ You have the ball in your court now. You have to answer the attorney’s questions. □ There was no way that Liz could avoid acting. She had the ball in her court.

make it one’s business to do something and take it upon oneself to do something to do something on one’s own even if it means interfering in something that does not directly concern one. (As opposed to minding one’s own business.) □ I know it doesn’t concern me, but I made it my business to call city hall because someone had to. □ Jane took it upon herself to find out exactly what had happened to the old lady.

on someone’s shoulders on someone’s own self. □ Why should all the responsibility fall on my shoulders? □ She carries a tremendous amount of responsibility on her shoulders.

own up (to something) to confess to something. □ I know you broke the window. Come on and own up to it. □ The boy holding the baseball bat owned up. What else could he do?

pass the buck to pass the blame (to someone else); to give the responsibility (to someone else). (Informal.) □ Don’t try to pass the buck! It’s your fault, and everybody knows it. □ Some people try to pass the buck whenever they can.

put one’s head on the block (for someone or something) to take great risks for someone or something; to go to a lot of trouble or difficulty for someone or something; to attempt to gain favor for someone or something. □ I don’t know why I should put my head on the block for Joan. What has she ever done for me? □ Sally tried to get me to put in a good word about her with the boss. You know, tell the boss what a great worker she is and how smart she is. The last time I put my head on the block for anyone, it all backfired, and when the person goofed up, I looked like an idiot!

shirk one’s duty to neglect one’s job or task. □ The guard was fired for shirking his duty. □ You cannot expect to continue shirking your duty without someone noticing.

spread oneself too thin to do so many things that you can do none of them well. □ It’s a good idea to get involved in a lot of activities, but don’t spread yourself too thin. □ I’m too busy these days. I’m afraid I’ve spread myself too thin.

take someone or something on to undertake to deal with someone or something. □ Mrs. Smith is such a problem. I don’t feel like taking her on just now. □ I’m too busy to take on any new problems.

take something (up) on oneself to make something one’s responsibility. □ I took it upon myself to order more pencils since we were running out of them. □ I’m glad that you took it on yourself to do that.

take the rap (for someone) to take the blame (for something) for someone else. (Slang, especially criminal slang.) □ I don’t want to take the rap for you. □ John robbed the bank, but Tom took the rap for him.

take the rap (for something) to take the blame for (doing) something. □ I won’t take the rap for the crime. I wasn’t even in town. □ Who’ll take the rap for it? Who did it?
wear more than one hat to have more than one set of responsibilities; to hold more than one office. □ The mayor is also the police chief. She wears more than one hat. □ I have too much to do to wear more than one hat.

RESTORE
do something up to repair or redecorate something. □ If we’re going to sell the house, we’ll have to do it up. □ I’m going to do up the kitchen.

make something good and make something right to replace or restore something. (Informal.) □ I know I owe you some money, but don’t worry, I’ll make it good. □ I’m sorry I broke your window. I’ll make it right, though.

mend (one’s) fences to restore good relations (with someone). □ I think I had better get home and mend my fences. I had an argument with my daughter this morning. □ Sally called up her uncle to apologize and try to mend fences.

touch something up to repair a paint job on something. □ We don’t need to paint the whole room. We can just touch the walls up. □ You should touch up scratches on your car as soon as they occur.

RESTRAINT
See also LIMITATION.
bite one’s tongue to struggle not to say something that you really want to say. □ I had to bite my tongue to keep from telling her what I really thought. □ I sat through that whole conversation biting my tongue.

bound hand and foot with hands and feet tied up. (Fixed order.) □ The robbers left us bound hand and foot. □ We remained bound hand and foot until the maid found us and untied us.

keep someone or something still and hold someone or something still to restrain or control someone or something so that the person or thing cannot move. □ Please keep your foot still. It makes me nervous when you wiggle it. □ You have to hold the nail still if you want to hit it.

no holds barred with no restraints. (Slang. From wrestling.) □ I intend to argue it out with Mary, no holds barred. □ When Ann negotiates a contract, she goes in with no holds barred and comes out with a good contract.

RESULTS
See also CONSEQUENCES.
bear fruit to yield results; to give (literal or figurative) fruit. □ Our apple tree didn’t bear fruit this year. □ I hope your new plan bears fruit. □ We’ve had many good ideas, but none of them has borne fruit.

boil down to something to reduce to something; to come down to something; to be essentially something. □ It all boils down to whether you wish to buy a car. □ It boils down to a question of good health.

eat one’s hat a phrase telling the kind of thing that one would do if a very unlikely event really happens. (Informal. Always used with an if-clause.) □ If we get there on time, I’ll eat my hat. □ I’ll eat my hat if you get a raise. □ He said he’d eat his hat if she got elected.

fall out to happen; to result. □ As things fell out, we had a wonderful trip. □ What fell out of our discussion was a decision to continue.

in the wake of something after something; as a result of some event. □ We had no place to live in the wake of the fire. □ In the wake of the storm, there were many broken tree limbs.

save the day to produce a good result when a bad result was expected. □ The team was expected to lose, but Sally made many points and saved the day. □ Your excellent speech saved the day.

when all is said and done when everything is finished and settled; when everything is considered. □ When all is said and done, this isn’t such a bad part of the country to live in after all. □ When all is said and done, I believe I had a very enjoyable time on my vacation.

when it comes right down to it all things considered; when one really thinks about something. □ When it comes right down to it, I’d like to find a new job. When it comes right down to it, he can't really afford a new car.

RESUME
See CONTINUATION.

RETURN
come full circle to return to the original position or state of affairs. The family sold the house generations ago, but things have come full circle and one of their descendants lives there now. The employer's power was reduced by the unions at one point, but matters have come full circle again.
come home (to roost) [for a problem] to return to cause trouble [for someone]. As I feared, all my problems came home to roost. Yes, problems all come home eventually.
make a comeback to return to one's former (successful) career. (Informal.) After ten years in retirement, the singer made a comeback. You're never too old to make a comeback.

REVELATION
blow someone's cover to reveal someone's true identity or purpose. The spy was very careful not to blow her cover. I tried to disguise myself, but my dog recognized me and blew my cover.
blow the lid off (something) to reveal something, especially wrongdoing; to make wrongdoing public. The police blew the lid off the smuggling ring. The government is glad that they blew the lid off.
bring something to light to make something known; to discover something. The scientists brought their findings to light. We must bring this new evidence to light.

come to light to become known. Some interesting facts about your past have just come to light. If too many bad things come to light, you may lose your job.

crack something wide open to expose and reveal some great wrongdoing. The police cracked the drug ring wide open. The newspaper story cracked the trouble at city hall wide open.

get something out in the open to make something public; to stop hiding a fact or a secret. We had better get this out in the open before the press gets wind of it. I'll feel better when it's out in the open. I can't stand all of this secrecy.

give the goods on someone to find out something potentially damaging or embarrassing about someone. John beat me unfairly in tennis, but I'll get even. I'll get the goods on him and his cheating. The authorities have the goods on Mr. Smith. He has been selling worthless land again.

give the game away to reveal a plan or strategy. (Informal.) Now, all of you have to keep quiet. Please don't give the game away. If you keep giving out hints, you'll give the game away.

let it all hang out to tell or reveal everything and hold back nothing (because one is relaxed or carefree). (Slang.) Sally has no secrets. She lets it all hang out all the time. Relax, John. Let it all hang out.

let something out to reveal something that is a secret. Please don't let this out, but I'm quitting my job. John let out the secret by accident.

let something slip (out) to tell a secret by accident. I didn't let it slip out on purpose. It was an accident. John let the plans slip when he was talking to Bill.

let the cat out of the bag and spill the beans to reveal a secret or a surprise by accident. When Bill glanced at the door, he let the cat out of the bag. We knew then that he was expecting someone to arrive. We are planning a surprise party for Jane. Don't let the cat out of the bag. It's a secret. Try not to spill the beans.

open something up to reveal the possibilities of something; to reveal an opportunity. Your letter opened new possibilities up. Your comments opened up a whole new train of thought.

sell someone out to betray someone; to reveal damaging information about someone. (Slang, especially criminal slang.) Bill told everything he knew about Bob, and that sold Bob down the river. □ You'll be sorry if you sell me out.

show one's hand to reveal one's intentions to someone. (From card games.) □ I don't know whether Jim is intending to marry Jane or not. He's not one to show his hand. □ If you want to get a raise, don't show the boss your hand too soon.

show someone up as something to reveal that someone is really something (else). □ The investigation showed her up as a fraud. □ The test showed the banker up as unqualified.

slip out [for secret information] to be revealed. □ I asked her to keep our engagement secret, but she let it slip out. □ I didn't mean to tell. It just slipped out.

smoke someone or something out to force someone or something out (of something), perhaps with smoke. (In cowboy or gangster talk this refers to the smoke from gunfire.) □ There was a mouse in the attic, but I smoked it out. □ The sheriff and the deputies smoked out the bank robbers.

tell its own story and tell its own tale [for the state of something] to indicate clearly what has happened. □ The upturned boat told its own tale. The fisherman had drowned. □ The girl's tear-stained face told its own story.

do a flip-flop (on something) and do an about-face to make a total reversal of opinion. (Informal or slang.) □ Without warning, the government did a flip-flop on taxation. □ It had done an about-face on the question of deductions last year.

double back (on someone or something) [for a person or animal] to reverse motion, moving toward someone or something (rather than away from someone or something). (Refers primarily to a person or animal that is being pursued by someone or something.) □ The deer doubled back on the hunter. □ The robber doubled back on the police, and they lost track of him. □ He doubled back on his trail.

turn the tables (on someone) to cause a reversal in someone's plans; to make one's plans turn back on one. □ I went to Jane's house to help get ready for a surprise party for Bob. It turned out that the surprise party was for me! Jane really turned the tables on me! □ Turning the tables like that requires a lot of planning and a lot of secrecy.

turn the tide to cause a reversal in the direction of events; to cause a reversal in public opinion. □ It looked as if the team was going to lose, but near the end of the game, our star player turned the tide. □ At first, people were opposed to our plan. After a lot of discussion, we were able to turn the tide.

feather in one's cap an honor; a reward for something. □ Getting a new client was really a feather in my cap. □ John earned a feather in his cap by getting an A in physics.

pie in the sky a future reward, especially after death. □ Are you nice to people just because of pie in the sky, or do you really like them? □ Don't hold out for a big reward. You know—pie in the sky.

RIDICULE

hang someone in effigy to hang a dummy or some other figure of a hated person. □ They hanged the dictator in effigy. □ The angry mob hanged the president in effigy.
